

ABSTRACT

A rail car cushioning device connected to a coupler is disclosed wherein the device is switchable between a locked mode and a cushioning mode.